Spike Heels

Spike Heels is a historical play by American author Theresa Rebeck. First performed in New York in 1990, it closely followed the famous testimony of Anita Hill before Congress, in which she alleged that Clarence Thomas, a nominee for the Supreme Court of the United States, sexually harassed her when she was a staffer.

Spike Heels Summary | SuperSummary

Spike Heels is set in two apartments in contemporary Boston. The play does not make much use of the city; however, Rebeck cleverly structures the play in two parts, and the division is also indicated by the locations of the two acts. The first act is set in Andrew's apartment, the second in Georgie's.
